Conflagration in the Gold Hill Mines, Nevada-Thirty-six Miners Burned to Death. SAN FRANCISCO, April 7, 1869.

A fire broke out this morning in the Yellow Jacket mine at Gold Hill, Nevada, which soon communi-cated with the Kentuck and Crown Point mines. Thus far (one P. M.) eleven bodies have been taken from the shafts of the three mines. Other bodies can be seen at the bottom of the Kentuck shaft, but It is impossible to remove them on account of the heat. It is uncertain how many persons there were in the mines. The excitement and confusion were so great that it was impossible to call the roll of those at work. Sixty men were at work in the two levels of the Crown Point mine. It is not known how many escaped. The distress is fearful. The wives and children of the miners have congregated at the entrance of the mines and are calling for their missing husbands and fathers.

Additional Particulars. San Francisco, April 7—8 P. M.

The latest reports from Gold Hill state that the number known to be dead is thirty-six five in the Yellow Jacket, eight in the Kentuck, and twenty-three in the Crown Point mine. The fire originated in the Kentuck mine and is reported now to be spreading toward the Yellow Jacket shaft. The firemen have succeeded in get-ting hose down the Yellow Jacket shaft to the level of the fire, and hopes are entertained that the flames will soon be subdued. If not, when all expectation of saving more lives are abandoned, the mouth of the shaft will be closed and ventilation stopped and the fire thereby smothered. The Yellow Jacket, Crown Point and Kentuck mines are unconnected with other mines underground; hence there is no probability of the fires extending beyond them.

The San Francisco Stock and Exchange Board have subscribed $1,000 and sent the money by tele-graph to Gold Hill for the renef of the families sufering by the conflagration.

This catastrophe is the most terrible that has ever ccurred in the mining districts of this coast. There is general sympathy expressed for the distressed.

The Conflagration Still Raging-Eighteen Bodies Recovered-More Bodies Known to be in the Burning Mines. SAN FRANCISCO, April 8, 1869.

The confingration at the Gold Hill mines is still raging. It appears to be confined principally to the Yellow Jacket drift, owing to the care which has been taken to prevent its spreading. The firemen are unable to reach the fiames, but efforts are being made to clear the drift, which will robably occupy all day. Eighteen bodies have been taken from the burning mines, nine of them from one drift. The Yellow Jacket Company have rescinded the dividend for March. The fire has had the effect to render the stocks of the Yellow Jacket, Crown Point and Kentuck panicy and transactions in them are at reduced values.

The Annual Budget-Deficits-Estimated Expenditures for the Present Year—The Ex-pense of the Abyssinian War—Proposed Reforms in the Collection of Taxes. LONDON, April 8, 1869.

LONDON, April 8, 1859.

In the House of Commons this evening the Hon.

Robert Lowe, Chancellor of the Exchequer, submitted the annual budget, in the explanation of which The Ministry proposed to deal separately with gen-

The estimates made by the Hon. George W. Hunt, his predecessor in office, were £73,000,000, while the receipts were £72,500,000, leaving a deficit of £500,000, which had to be met this year. He (Mr. Lowerestimated the expenditures of the present fiscal year at £68, 250,000, showing a reduction of £2,250,000 from the estimated expenditures of last year, which was gained chiefly in the Admiralty and War Offices.

He estimated the revenue of the present fiscal year at £73,000,000, or an excess over last year of £250,000. So if the Abyssinian war were not to be provided for the surplus would be £4,500,000. The whole expense of the Abyssinian war was £9,000,000, of which £7,000,000 were expended in India. The country had still £4,000,000 of this amount to pay. The surplus of the present year would just balance the Abyssinian and the general deficit.

Under the circumstances, said the Chancellor of the Exchequer, it is desirable to raise a further sum by taxation. He regarded the present means of collection as expensive and unsatisfactory, and said its only warrant was in its antiquity. He proposed to collect the assessed taxes by means of excise licenses granted at the commencement of each year on a return to be furnished by the taxpayer. income tax is to be collected in the same manner. By these measures £3,250,000 will be brought into the financial year in addition to the amounts heretofore collected. Out of this amount he proposed a reduction of a penny upon the income tax; to repeal the import duty on corr and the fire insurance duty, and to rearrange several smaller items. This will give a decrease of £3,000, ooo, and will leave nearly £500,000 clear surplus.

Mr. Hunt, the late Chancellor of the Exchequer, in a reply to Mr. Lowe, said the reduction in estimates was due to the efforts of the late government in making the army and navy more efficient.

After a long and desultory conversation the usual resolution of leave to bring in the budget was

Brooklyn Navy Yard.

A few days ago one of the New York journals pub-tished an order over the name of Commodore Merchand purporting to emanate from that officer by direction of the Secretary of the Navy, directing that none other than men who were of the republican party should be hereafter employed in the Navy Yard at Philadelphia, of which naval station the Commodore named is the commandant. If this Yard at Philadeiphia, of which naval station the Commodore named is the commandant. If this order be genuine, which seems doubtful, it is very singular, to say the least, in view of the fact that a board of naval officers acting under the authority of the Department is now engaged in an investigation of certain charges heretofore made, that partisan feeling prevailed to such an extent that none but those in political harmony with the "powers that be?" were employed in the government works.

The board in question, of which Captain Almy is chairman, has been in session at this station for several days past, but thus far has not been able to detect anything which would indicate such an exclusive spirit on the part of the management and distribution of patronage as the one attributed.

There can be no doubt that the state of affairs complained of has existed in former years at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, when the republicans of the Fifth ward of that city, during political campaigns, were wont to inscribe on their banners the significant motto, "One more dash and the Navy Yard is ours." Then it was customary in the several departments of the yard to assess all employee as regularly as assessments are now levied in our Corporation offices for political purposes. During Admiral Beil's late administration, and frequently while the war was going on, stindar charges were made from time to time, and a thorough investigation was had upon such occasions by a committee of officers appointed by the Admiral for that purpose, but no proof positive for such complaints could be elicited. What success Captain Almy has met with in his investigation of the subject is not yet known. It would appear, however, that political influence in securing employment on thus station is at a discount.

"The Marriage Morning," a beautiful pieture by Bongniet, brought $1,000, the highest price of the evening. "The Argument," by Victor Chavet, was a little picture well worth the $400 for which it sold. "Susannah," by C. Bewer, a Dusseldorf artist, brought $500. The picture of Loutze, "The Storning of the Toccalit," was withdrawn, as the auctionsers declined to start it at a less figure than $5,000. The Quarantine bill, which had been reported adversely in the Senate.

ersely in the Senate recently and referred back to the committee, was again reported to-day for the consideration of the Senate. The committee had it before them yesterday, when a paper signed by nearly fifty of the leading snipping merchants in the city was presented, certifying that there was no danger to be apprehended to the health of the city from allowing newsboats to approach inward bound vessels. They state that in their long experience for many years not a single case of contagion was known to have reached the city through this cannel. Dr. Swinburne, who was present to oppose the bill in behalf of his own system of getting and distributing news—but on the pica of preserving the public ficalith—had the effrontery to deciare that these gentlemen, whom he admitted to be the first saippling merchants in New York, had set their signatures to a positive falsehood. How will these respectable gentlemen reish that? The committee was a little astonished; but that, perhaps, was because they do not know the Health Officer.

It was thought that the Broadway Surface Railroad bill would have been up in the Senate to-day, but it was not reacade. The impority of the Railroad Committee, however, Senators Genet and Granam, have their report ready, and will, probably, submit to-morrow. bound vessels. They state that in their long expe

At the evening session of the House the Central Railroad bill, authorizing the issue of stock, finally passed by a vote of $4 to 35. Several members asked to be excused from voting, but they were compelled to vote, with the result above.

The Sheriffs bill, increasing the fees of that office, was then put upon its third reading, and passed by a vote of $4 to 22. The Consolidated Railread bill, uniting the Central, Hadson River and Harlem Railroads under one control, as a gigantic corporation, also passed by a vote of 76 to 39.

The Briberry and Corruption bill of Senator Hale has passed the Senate. Only live votes were cast against it—all democrats—namely, Senators Tweed, Bradley, Norton, Cauldwell and Pierce, these gentlemen regarding it as unjust, because it exempts the eximinal who offers a bribe upon testifying against. riminal who offers a bribe upon festifying against he man who is alleged to have received it.
